County fire fighter rules considered by supervisors

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors directed its acting attorney Gerald Gex to study a proposed list of regulations submitted Monday by a representative of the County Firemen's Association.

Edward Friloux, fire safety administrator of the Diamondhead Fire Department told supervisors the proposed rules and by-laws represent the association's effort to 'make an in-house judicial body.'

The laws establish certain rules regarding equipment standards, and personnel conduct and training.

All eight county fire departments must follow the rules if the board chooses to adopt the regulations.

Friloux said there are currently no established countywide rules to which volunteer fire departments must conform.

The administrator reported, Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Kiln Volunteer and Diamondhead Fire Departments are subject to laws administered by the Mississippi State Rating Bureau, Insurance Services Organization, National Fire Protection Association and National Fire Protection Academy.

"BaySide, East and West Hancock, and Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Departments are not subject to state statutes and have no formal set of regulations," Friloux stated.

He said all eight county fire department chiefs are in agreement with the proposed new set of by-laws.

After the meeting Friloux stated, "All the departments have agreed to enforce the proposed rules, but how can you enforce the rules if there is no law."

Former Bay man's body found in lake

By BRENT MACEY

The body of Lionel Acker, 30, of Gretna and former Bay St. Louis resident, missing since Feb. 13 after a freak automobile accident on the I-10 twin bridges over Lake Pontchartrain, was discovered Friday.

Officer Marion Pendergraft of the New Orleans Police Department said the body was discovered by a fisherman approximately one mile south of the accident scene.

Pendergraft said the body was taken to the New Orleans Coroner's office where an autopsy determined drowning as the cause of death.

According to Pendergraft, the Feb. 13 accident occurred when Ausbur Fortner, 32, of Slidell attempted to pass Acker and 'cut in too quickly,' forcing Acker's automobile over a bridge guard rail into the lake.

Three-year-old Melissa Acker, daughter of Lionel Acker was also killed in the accident.

Her body was discovered the day after the mishap under the dashboard of the Acker automobile which sunk in 14 feet of water.

Pendergraft said Fortner was 'intoxicated' at the time of the accident.

Fortner is charged with two counts of manslaughter, one count of driving while intoxicated and one count of hit and run.

District Attorney's office recently accepted all charges filed against Fortner.

He said a trial date 'if Fortner pleads innocent' will 'probably be scheduled at the end of this month or the beginning of next month.'

GASOLINE THEFT

Four youths were arrested Tuesday night by officers of the Bay St. Louis Police Department in the theft of gasoline from a Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District school bus parked in a parking lot on Carrol Avenue near Bay Junior High School.

Police Chief Douglas Williams said three of the youths are juveniles, and are charged with 'accessory to the fact.'

Pat McCraney, 18, of Bay St. Louis is charged with simple burglary in the gasoline theft and possession of one marijuana cigarette, Williams said.

McCraney is in Hancock County Jail with bond set at $500.

Williams stated Patrolman Pete Marchette spotted two youths at approximately 9:30 p.m. in a car parked on Ulman Avenue in front of the old fire department building and stopped to ask what they were doing there.

"They said they were having car problems, but then Marchette spotted McCraney under one of the buses," Williams said.

He said seven other Bay St. Louis policemen were called to the scene.

A fourth youth near a fence on Ulman Street was also arrested.

"The three juveniles were apparently look-outs," Williams said.

He said McCraney was apprehended with about six gallons of gasoline in an outboard motor gasoline tank. A syphoning hose was also found, he added.

Williams noted the area has been under surveillance by the police department for 'several months' because of reports of 40 and 50 gallons of gasoline being stolen per week.

The case is still under investigation, Williams said.

Williams reported the juveniles were placed in custody of the Hancock County Youth Court.

He attributed the apprehension to an increased number of police officers on duty during the Mardi Gras season.

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

An investigation is still underway to identify a white male struck and killed by an automobile Sunday morning on I-10 about one mile west of Hwy. 603.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson said the dead man has been finger printed and those prints have been sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation to trace his identity.

"We hope to have results by Friday," Peterson stated.

Alvin Ladner, investigator for the sheriff's department, noted the man was struck at approximately 6:30 a.m. Sunday by an automobile occupied by three college women in route to New Orleans.

Ladner described the man as a white male in his forties.

Identification cards with photos of the man did not resemble the man, he said.

Peterson said a name on an identification card found on man's body could not be disclosed due to the possibility that it was not his.

"We feel it was not an local man because we have had no calls reporting anyone missing," he said.

Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol officers said the driver of the car which struck the man was driven by Miguel Elle, 21, of New Orleans.

Ladner reported the woman said it was foggy and she did not see the man until just before the car struck him which threw him into the middle emergency lane.

The man's body is at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

POT BUST

Waveland Police Department officers arrested a Pearllington man for apparent possession of marijuana and carrying concealed weapon in his vehicle early Tuesday morning at approximately 12:22 a.m.

Joe Goodman, 23, was released shortly after his arrest on $5,000 bond.

Patrolman John Wilkerson said Goodman 'swerved' in front of his patrol car as he was passing Goodman in the left westbound lane of US-90 west of Nicholson Avenue in Waveland.

Wilkerson said Goodman was apparently trying to locate something in his truck which caused him to serve.

The officer stated he stopped Goodman to discover what had caused him to swerve and noticed Goodman reaching for or trying to hide something.

Wilkerson said he spotted an ashtray on the truck seat which appeared to contain marijuana cigarette butts.

Rules.....

various county fire departments are directed to the supervisors.

Frloux also noted after the meeting, "The supervisors are tired of receiving petty phone calls and complaints about a fire department. Acceptance of these rules will enable us to police ourselves and thus have better volunteer fire departments."

The 22 rules require all fire departments place the department under the leadership of a capable fire chief; each fire department be chartered with the State of Mississippi; firefighter training be continued 'for all fire fighters with manuals'; and each member receive 24 hours of training a year.

The rules also state all volunteer members be capable of operating fire trucks, and be familiar with water pump operation and all equipment on trucks in a fire station.

Requirements for types and amount of equipment needed per truck and station are also listed.

Equipment includes at least two separate self-contained breathing apparatus approved by the Federal Bureau of Mines; type and length of water hoses and ladders; the number of picks and axes.

Regulation by-laws also require two-way radios on all fire department vehicles.

Frloux said, "Departments who cannot meet the standards set in the by-laws will not be punished if they show they are trying to meet the standards."

The rules also state that any fire fighter responding to a fire under the influence of alcohol or a controlled substance be reported to the local police department or sheriff's office, and be dismissed from the association immediately.

A beneficiary payment of $50,000 to the family of a fire fighter is also included in the rules.

In other business, the board heard a report from Jeff Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission regarding a recent trip to a jail-study convention by himself, District Four Supervisor Sam Pernicario, District Five Supervisor James Travica and County Sheriff Ronald Peterson to Boulder, Colo.

Taylor said the convention was 'a very good learning experience.'

He said discussions included 'jail conditions and inmate rights—both in pre- and post-trial situations which could possibly prevent the county from being sued by an inmate.'

Taylor said other issues discussed included staffing a new jail, financing, and working with architects and consultants for a new facility.

"In all we discussed a wide range of things. I found it very thought provoking. It made us do a lot of thinking ourselves," Taylor noted.

He stated the issue of how to 'sell' and 'involve' the community in plans for a new jail was also discussed at the convention.

Taylor said members of the National Institute of Corrections in Boulder recommended Hancock County form a jail advisory committee to promote a new jail in the county.

Sam Pernicario stated after the meeting, "I wouldn't mind being an inmate if I had to be confined at the jail in Boulder. It seemed more like a resort area."

He said the new $9,000,000 Boulder jail contained lounge areas for the inmates; a library; a gymnasium; a weightlifting room and also private cells.

"I don't know, maybe they have the right idea about rehabilitation. I always thought a criminal should be punished, not treated like a king," he said.

Also during the Monday meeting at 9 a.m. in the County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, the supervisors:

—Accepted a $121 per month pest extermination bid from Pest Control Services Inc. of Gulfport for all county-owned buildings;

—Accepted a $22,000 bid from Crown Equipment Company of Bay St. Louis for a front-end loader for Beat One;

—Approved advertising for light fixtures for a baseball park in Beat Three;

—Authorized advertising for a backhoe for Beat Five;

—Authorized advertising for construction of a 30-foot by 30-foot, four inch concrete slab for the BaySide Fire Department to park its vehicles;

—Authorized County Engineer Lawrence Seals to survey the Catahous land fill area in National Space Technology Laboratories' acoustic buffer zone to determine a location for a woven wire fence to contain debris.

Public hearing on billfish management slated in Biloxi

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council has scheduled an intensive round of public hearings on a proposed management plan for billfish as it applies for the Gulf of Mexico. The hearings are set for locations in all five Gulf states, including Biloxi.

The Billfish Management Plan, which has been under development and study by the Gulf Council's billfish management committee for a number of months, will apply to blue marlin, white marlin, sailfish and spearfish. Swordfish are not included in the management plan.

There are a number of vital measures in the plan, but one of the most important may be the measure that will limit the number of foreign longline vessels in the Gulf during the winter and spring and prevent them from fishing during the summer.

U.S. longline fishermen will be limited to one billfish per boat per trip and the plan provides for further restrictions on U.S. longliners in the future, if they are needed.

Recreational fishermen may also face some restrictions. The plan provides for bag limits for fishermen in the Gulf in the event recreational catches increase beyond what has been determined the 'optimum yield'.

Fishermen in the South Atlantic region will have a bag limit immediately after the plan is implemented and statistical reporting may also be required.

Gulf Council member and Billfish Management Committee chairman, Captain B. J. Putnam of Panama City, Florida, points out the following objectives of the management plan: To promote conservation of the stocks throughout their range; to optimize the social and economic benefits to the nation from the billfish fishery by continuing the traditional use of billfishes; to maintain a high availability of billfish to U.S. fishermen; and to increase the understanding of the condition of billfish stocks and the billfish fishery.

The following locations and dates have been scheduled for the public hearings by the Gulf Council. All hearings begin at 7 p.m.

March 9, New Orleans, LA—Landmark Motor Hotel, Metairie

March 9, Biloxi, MS—Community Center

March 10, Lake Charles, LA—Downtown Motor Inn

March 10, Mobile, AL—Municipal Auditorium

March 11, Galveston, TX—Jury Assembly Room, County Court House

March 11, Destin, FL—Destin Community Center

March 12, Corpus Christi,

TX—Texas A&M Research and Extension Center

March 12, St. Petersburg, FL—Bayfront Center, Posno Room

March 13, Port Isabel, TX—Port Isabel Community Center

The Gulf Council urges all participants in the billfish fishery and other interested persons to provide their input either at the public hearings or in writing.

Summaries of the plan can be obtained from and public comments addressed to: Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, 5401 West Kennedy Boulevard, Suite 881, Tampa, Florida 33609.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery

Management Council is one of eight regional fishery councils which was established by the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act (Public Law 94-265).

The Gulf Council prepares fishery plans designed to manage fishery resources in the 200-mile limit in the Gulf of Mexico.

The fishing industry, consumer, recreational and environmental organizations, as well as other interested persons, in states surrounding the Gulf of Mexico, participate in and advise on the establishment and administration of these fishery plans with consideration to the social and economic needs of the states.

Insurance available on item replacement cost

For the first time Mississippi residents soon will have the option of buying replacement cost insurance for their personal possessions.

"The new replacement cost option is one feature of the HO 76 policy program developed by the Insurance Services Office," said Robert G. Covin, state representative for ISO, a national insurance statistical and rating organization.

"The Mississippi Insurance Commission, at the urging of Insurance Commissioner George Dale, has approved the program for use in the state beginning March 1," Covin continued.

In the past if a person's possessions were damaged by a covered peril, the homeowners policy would pay only the actual cash value of the item because an amount would be deducted for depreciation.

For example, if it was determined that a television set that cost $800 to replace at today's prices had depreciated 50 percent, the traditional homeowners policy would pay only $400, less any deductible, if the television set was totally destroyed.

Starting next month, however, home owners and apartment dwellers can insure their possessions at their full replacement cost, less only the deductible contained in the policy. This optional coverage will be available for a small additional premium.

The new policy will also contain an option for policyholders to buy windstorm and hail coverage for fences, boat houses and similar property that had not been covered for these perils in traditional policies.

"The new form contains some other changes from the old policy, but these changes will not affect premiums," said Covin.

Coverage Changes
Highlights of some of the changes include:

—Theft coverage is limited in the new policy to a total of $1,000 on all silverware and to a total of $1,000 on all guns. Additional coverage on silverware is available, however, up to a limit acceptable to the insuring company.

—Theft coverage for personal property of students while at school, previously provided by policy interpretation, now is included specifically.

—Coverage on personal property away from the insured premises, anywhere in the world, is now the same as that for personal property on the premises.

Off-premises coverage previously was limited to 10 percent of the on-premises coverage, but not less than $1,000. The 10 percent limit now applies only to property normally located at another residence of the insured.

—Credit card coverage is automatically included. It had to be added to the traditional policy by endorsement.

—Theft of the insured's personal property from premises that he owns but rents to others is excluded.

—The $100 limit of coverage on money and bullion now also includes gold, silver and platinum.

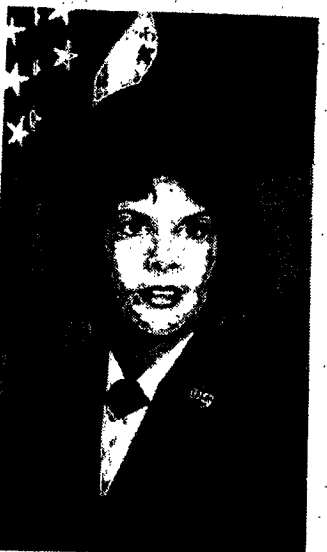

—The maximum coverage for loss to one tree, shrub or plant is increased from $250 to $500.

—Coverage for removing debris after a loss is expanded so that when the amount payable for property loss and debris removal exceeds the stated limit of liability, an additional five percent of that limit is available to cover debris removal expenses.

Easy To Read
"Another important part of the HO 76 program is its easy-to-read format," Covin said.

"The new policy contains about half as many words as the old policy, the type is 25 percent larger in the forms, there is more space between lines of type and there is less use of legal terms."

"We hope that the new program and its easy-to-read format will help the consumer better understand his insurance policy so that he can get the best value for his insurance dollar," said Covin.

Book Review

by Hart Shorn

A classic book that had an influence in shaping an understanding of slavery and the plantation system has been reprinted by University Press of Mississippi.

Memorials of a Southern Planter by Susan Dabney Smedes gives a vivid, although somewhat romanticized, account of antebellum life at Burleigh. This cotton plantation of 4,000 acres near Raymond, Mississippi, was established by the author's father, Thomas Smith Gregory Dabney, who had brought his family and 500 slaves from Virginia in the 1850's.

Although simple, life at Burleigh was dignified, and the 16 Dabney children were well schooled and given many of the advantages that the culture of Virginia, New Orleans, and the Mississippi Gulf Coast offered.

Both family and slaves are said to be devoted to Dabney, shown to have been considered a noble and kindly master and a responsible citizen who was respected by both state and national figures.

When the Civil War erupted, Burleigh barely survived, for many of the slaves were dispersed, and Union troops passing from Vicksburg to Jackson pillaged the plantation house, from which the aging Dabney and his daughters had been forced to flee.

Susan Dabney Smedes published her book in 1887, two years after her father's death. Her primary objective was to memorialize him and to free his kind from the denunciations of the plantation system that had portrayed masters as cruel and uncaring beasts.

Her memorial to him, however, is no longer solely as a tribute to the paternalistic planter class but as an eyewitness account of a social system now discredited.

The book is considered a classic because of its documentary evidence in family letters, genealogy, and narrative of the planter aristocrat's point of view.

Memorials of a Southern Planter includes Mrs. Smedes' account of her Birginea and Mississippi ancestry, of the lives of both slave and slaveholder, and of the collapse of the traditions known at Burleigh as the Civil War made its impact.

The book was admired by Prime Minister Gladstone, who sponsored the publication of an English edition.

In the United States here have been 14 editions.

This new one from University Press of Mississippi, the first one in paperback, can be bought in bookstores for $8.95, plus state sales tax, or can be ordered directly from the press at 3825 Ridgewood Road, Jackson, Ms 39211.

Parents, teachers discuss LD problems

A recent meeting of Hancock County Chapter—Mississippi Association of Children with Learning Disabilities brought parents and teachers together to discuss problems faced every day with children having a learning disability.

"It was a enjoyable evening for everyone, with everyone leaving with a better understanding of problems faced by parents and teachers," reports Marion Dailey, chapter president.

"Also at this meeting Lois Abrams, of Hancock North Central School, invited each parent to HNC to see new classrooms built in an old cafeteria and to give their impressions on conditions in these rooms," Dailey said.

The chapter president also noted, "We will be conducting officer elections in April. At the next meeting on March 16, at Scafield's Wheel Inn, we will be appointing a nominating committee to find qualified people to be next year's officers," Dailey added.

"To become an officer you must be a paid member of the chapter and be able to attend meetings. Plus, a desire to help children with learning disabilities," Dailey said.

For more information call Dailey at 255-9287.

Bits 'n pieces

King Triton VII, J.D. (Big John) Rutherford has brought the 1981 Mardi Gras season to a close.

Thousands lined US-90 in Waveland and Bay St. Louis to see King Rutherford and other members of Triton's Krewe.

Some may think the parading is over, but on Saturday, March 14, Waveland will host the Waveland Civic Association's Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade.

This year's parade will have an extra special group we have been told. Pete Fountain is scheduled to lead his Half Fast Marching Group to add flair to Waveland's St. Patrick's Day Parade.

If you have a group or float and would like to join in the St. Pat's Parade call Conrad Mauffray at 467-4680 or Dave Garcia 467-5463.

Everyone has a good time at Waveland's Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade, whether a participant or spectator.

Don't forget Saturday, March 14 at 2 p.m.

We understand that all preliminary functions have been completed for the Crime Prevention Seminar sponsored by Mayor Larry Bennett and Chief Douglas Williams with assistance of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

The seminar for merchants is tonight and tomorrow (Friday) for the general public.

The seminars will be at the Bay Senior High's Gym from 6 to 10 p.m. each night.

We feel it is important for everyone to attend these seminars designed to help protect property.

We have to congratulate all the participants in these two seminars, it is a program much needed in today's world.

Bay St. Louis Rotary members heard an interesting speaker last week.

Dr. William Hill, cardiologist on the staff of Hancock General Hospital kept everyone's attention on a talk of heart functions and causes of heart attacks.

Dr. Hill, whose office is in Bay St. Louis, is one of many specialists on the staff of Hancock General Hospital.

All of our schools should be prepared

Hancock County Civil Defense has joined Mississippi's office of the National Weather Service and Gov. William Winter in promoting March 2-6 as Tornado Awareness Week.

Robert (Bobby) Boudin, local Civil Defense director has urged all local schools, government agencies and citizens to participate in a tornado watch and warning drills which will be conducted sometime today.

Just last year tornadoes ripped through the Garden Isles Community and Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore.

Fortunately, in these instances, only relatively minor injuries were sustained by a few people in these areas with the tremendous amount of structural destruction.

Fortunately at Gulfview classes were not in session but when students were present school officials familiar with tornadoes safeguarded the children by taking action just before the tornado hit.

All schools should develop plans and conduct drills to cope with tornadoes.

The Mississippi State Department of Education has a requirement that all state accredited schools shall have a written disaster plan for all emergencies on file in each superintendent's office and conduct at least two tornado safety drills per year.

Each school should be inspected and tornado shelter areas designated.

Schools with basements should use these as shelters. Schools without basements should use interior hallways on the ground floor that are not parallel to the tornadoes path, which usually is from the southwest.

Never use gymnasiums, auditoriums, or other rooms with wide free-span roofs.

Teachers and students should know their designated shelter areas.

Children in schoolrooms of weak construction, such as portable or temporary classrooms, should be escorted to sturdier buildings or to predetermined ditches, culverts, or ravines, and be instructed to lie face down with hands over head.

Most tornado deaths are caused by head injuries.

If a school bus is caught in the open when a tornado is approaching, the children should be escorted to a nearby ditch or ravine and made to lie face down, hands over head. They should be far enough away so the bus cannot topple on them. School bus drivers should be regularly drilled in tornado procedures.

A special alarm system in schools should be designated to indicate a tornado has been sighted and is approaching. A backup alarm should be planned for use if electrical power fails... perhaps a battery operated bullhorn, an inexpensive hand-cranked siren, or even an old-fashioned hand swung bell.

As part of Tornado Awareness Week, all schools are encouraged to have a tornado safety drill.

The children should be told to go to safe areas and crouch on the floor facing the wall with their hands on the backs of their heads.

We cannot prevent the destruction from a tornado. But with the use of a safety plan and tornado drills, we can minimize the number of deaths and injuries.

TORNADO Safety Rules

When a tornado approaches—your immediate action may mean life or death

Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building of substantial construction. Stay away from windows!

■ IN CITIES OR TOWNS

In office buildings—stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement.

In factories—on receiving a tornado warning, post a lookout. Workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection in accordance with advance plans.

In homes—the basement usually offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under a sturdy workbench or heavy table if possible. In a home with no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the house. Keep some windows open, but stay away from them!

Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds. Trailer parks should have a community shelter. Appoint a community leader responsible for constant radio monitoring during threatening weather or during watch periods.

■ IN SCHOOLS

Whenever possible, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor.

Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide, free-span roofs. If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

■ IN OPEN COUNTRY

Move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

■ KEEP LISTENING

Your radio and television stations will broadcast the latest tornado advisory information. Call the Weather Service only to report a tornado.

REMEMBER: Tornado watch means tornadoes are expected to develop. Tornado warning means a tornado has actually been sighted.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Local weather service explains tornado drill slated today

U.S. Department of Commerce
National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration
National Weather Service
P.O. Box 5779
Jackson, Ms. 39208

Dear Editor:

A statewide tornado drill will highlight this year's Tornado Awareness Week in Mississippi. The drill is set for Thursday, March 5, March 6 is the alternate date in case of bad weather on the 5.

A practice tornado watch will be issued on the morning of the 5. As in a real event, the watch will be an alert that warnings are possible in the next few hours. A practice tornado warning will be issued later that morning.

The purpose of the drill is to give residents of Mississippi an opportunity to see if they can hear a warning in time and know what to do. Everyone in Mississippi should take this drill seriously.

Mississippi leads all other states in tornado-related deaths. Statistics on tornado deaths have been compiled since 1916. Since then, tornadoes have killed 1,126 people in Mississippi.

When the practice tornado warning is issued, we are asking that people note the time they first hear the warning and from what source. We are also encouraging them to take the same action they would in the case of a real tornado warning.

The few minutes it will take to participate will give Mississippians a good idea whether they are prepared to deal with an actual tornado threat.

In some areas sirens will be activated when the practice warning is issued. The decision to use the sirens will be strictly a local matter, with each local Civil Defense unit making that determination.

We would like to remind all concerned that at the time of this drill, we will already be well into the season of peak tornado activity in Mississippi. This four-month peak runs from February through May. But remember, tornadoes can and do occur at any time during the year.

Sincerely yours,

Tice H. Wagner III

The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

We are looking for any and all World War II Glider Pilots in Mississippi, also any Tow Pilots or Glider Mechanics are welcome.

There were about 6000 of us who wore the Silver Wings with the 'G' on them. At this late date we have found about 2300 and would like to find more.

We are a unique and extinct group since there were so few of us and there will be no more of us.

If you were a 'GP' or know of one, call their attention to the fact that the 7th Wing covering Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Missouri will hold a Mini-Convention at the Downtowner Motor Inn in Jackson, Mississippi, on April 24, 25, and 26, 1981. ## NEWS

The Mississippi Economic Council again voiced its opposition to any proposal to enact classification of property for ad valorem tax purposes in testimony today before the Senate Constitution Committee.

"MEC opposes classification because it will remove equity in property taxation," said Council Taxation Committee Chairman Rhyme Neubert, a Jackson CPA.

"It will establish as state policy the granting of preferential treatment to one segment of the economy at the expense of another, and you may be sure this message will be heard by industrial prospects and others interested in making economic investments in the state."

Neubert was testifying against a Senate Concurrent Resolution which provides for three classifications and assessments: residential, agricultural, and forest land not to exceed 10 percent; railroads, rail property, and all property not otherwise classified not to exceed 15 percent; and utilities not to exceed 30 percent.

He pointed out several reasons why classification is undesirable. They are:

—It is discriminatory. Under classification, a property tax advantage would be given to one segment of the economy at the expense of another.

—Classification shifts the burden of taxation to another segment of society—usually to business property. Because increased business costs are inevitably passed on to the consumer, individual taxpayers begin supporting a heavier tax burden, indirectly, through increased prices of goods and services.

—Classification erodes the tax base as it likens property tax to an income tax based upon ability to pay. As this happens, more and more pressure will be brought to change the system, to give additional preferential treatment to the politically strong at the expense of the politically weak.

Neubert cited the problems the State of Minnesota has had with its system of classification. "When Minnesota first adopted a classification system, it used three classes of property," he said.

"Now it has 17 classes. The creation of additional classes simply depends on which group of taxpayers has the political clout in a particular year to advance for a different, favored classification."

"Classification would help destroy the state's economic climate and would be an obvious step backward in Mississippi's march toward economic improvement," he concluded.

WHY YOU NEED MORTGAGE PROTECTION

Is it important to you that your home be free and clear of a mortgage at your death?

Statistics show there's a far greater chance you'll die before your mortgage runs out than there is of your house being destroyed by fire or other disaster (for which you most likely already have adequate insurance).

What kind of financial picture would your family face without your income?

Providing mortgage protection coverage is surprisingly low in cost, regardless of what your mortgage balance happens to be.

Get the facts. Ask me about our Mortgage Life Protection plans.

Tax incentives offered to old building owners

The Tax Treatment Extension Act of 1980, signed into law by President Jimmy Carter on Dec. 17, extends important tax incentives for the rehabilitation of historic commercial and income-producing properties, says Elbert R. Hilliard, director of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

"These incentives include 60-month amortization of rehabilitation costs or rapid depreciation of an entire structure if the rehabilitation is substantial," Hilliard notes.

"These incentives, which were originally scheduled to end in June of this year, are now extended until Dec. 31, 1983. Substantial tax savings can be realized by owners of qualified buildings," the director reports.

"Under the amortization provisions, an owner may deduct one-fifth of the rehabilitation costs each year for five years. If the rehabilitation is substantial—that is, if it costs more than $5,000 or the adjusted basis of the property—the owner may elect to use an accelerated rate of depreciation, giving him greater tax savings in the early part of the depreciable life of the property," he explains.

In order to be eligible for these benefits, both the historic significance of the building and the rehabilitation must be certified by the Secretary of the Interior.

"To be certified as significant, a building must be individually listed on the National Register of Historic Places, be a contributing member of a historic district listed on the National Register, or be a contributing member of a historic district designated under a qualifying state and local statute. The rehabilitation must be certified if it conforms to the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation," Hilliard further explains.

Certifications are obtained by submitting to the department of archives and history a Historic Preservation Certification Application.

"The Mississippi department as the designated State Historic Preservation Office, is responsible for reviewing the applications and making recommendations to the interior department," Hilliard says.

"Staff members of the archives department are available to work with owners in planning their rehabilitations to insure compatibility with the standards," he notes.

"Since the tax benefit program has been extended, a renewed interest in rehabilitation is expected throughout the state," Hilliard adds.

More information on the program may be obtained by writing the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, Division of Historic Preservation, P.O. Box 571, Jackson, Miss. 39205.

SCORE plans workshop on business ventures

A blue ribbon team of five retired executives of SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) and four professional men will conduct a one-day workshop on "Planning Your Business Venture" Wednesday, March 11 at the Gulfport Area Chamber of Commerce building.

At a time when business failures, nationally and along the coast, are increasing at an alarming rate, Sidney F. Wogan, chairman of SCORE's workshop program, said the organization believes the March 11 program will help those contemplating entering business, or new in business, avoid some of the pitfalls causing failures.

Wogan will introduce the subject with remarks on some personal qualifications necessary to insure business success.

Other instructors and their subjects are Fred K. Olin, former marketing executive with NCR Corporation, "Financial Factors," including a proven method of evaluating financial factors vital to success or failure of a new business; John S. Hall, credit officer, Hancock Bank, "Sources of Capital" with pointers on how and where to obtain it; Wogan, former Air Force Judge Advocate, "Forms of Business Organization" with a review of advantages and disadvantages of three basic legal forms of business organization; also Joseph Hank, former petroleum marketing executive, "Marketing and Promotion" with tips on how to plan, price, promote and provide; J. Walter Poorman, professional counselor, "Business Regulations, Taxes and Insurance" and how every business man, especially new ones, must know about these subjects in order to survive and make a profit; and Guy I. Wetherell, former IRS agent, "Business Records" and how good records help increase profits, safeguard assets, and control important costs in business; Chic Anderson, manager of the Gulf Coast office, Mississippi Research & Development Center, "Orientation" to Local Business Conditions" including an analysis of current economic conditions on the Coast and a forecast of future business prospects; Amos Crouch Jr., management assistance officer, Small Business Administration, "Sources of Information" with suggestions where the new and existing small business man can find answers to his problems; and Jerry Haley, finance officer, Small Business Administration, with special instructions to veterans.

Registration for the workshop will begin at 8:30 a.m. with the program starting at 9 a.m. and ending at 4:30 p.m.

A $5 fee will be charged for materials, publications and refreshments.

Registration checks should be mailed to SCORE, C/O

FOOD MANAGEMENT

person to the impulse-buying traps.

Following a shopping list to the letter can provide protection against impulse buying. Avoid the eye-level, high-profit items in the supermarket. Stoop to find the lower-priced and more nutritious items on bottom shelves.

Be careful of traps, such as out-of-place items—sweet rolls nestled among the instant coffee—that gives false 'buy me' signals.

If possible, leave children at home. They distract shoppers from their serious decision-making task as well as nag parents into buying the foods they see advertised on TV.

To guard against impulse buying, eat before you shop. Hungry shoppers spend more and are likely to overbuy and succumb to impulse buying. In evaluating your progress, keep track of your spending on the different food categories to see how much you are spending for food and how you are dividing your food dollar.

To get the best diets for your food dollar, your spending should be about 35 percent for meat, poultry, eggs, fish, dried beans and peas, peanut butter and nuts; 20 percent for vegetables and fruits, processed and fresh; 13 percent for milk, cheese, yogurt and ice cream; 12 percent for bread, cereal, pasta, rice, crackers and bakery goods; and 20 percent for other foods such as fats, seasonings, sugar, dressings and beverages.

If you are overspending in the 'other foods' category, you may be buying too many soft drinks, snack foods and high-calorie extras and getting too few other nutritious foods.

In addition to evaluating the cost of food and how food dollars are divided, check the meals served: Did you include proper amounts of foods in the Daily Food Guide? Are the meals appetite-appealing? How much preparation and clean-up time did the meal require?

Planning takes time and effort. With practice, it can be done quite speedily and make your meals more nutritious and enjoyable.

Money Talk

By Norine Barnes

The first step in any financial plan is to find out exactly how much money you have to work with. Gross income overstates your real spending power. The figure you need is your net income—or take-home pay.

The next information you need is a breakdown of where your money is going. Don't guess or make estimates on the basis of a little doodling on a piece of paper. You need the hard facts.

You can get the facts you need in two ways. Either get out your cancelled checks for the past 12 months and reconstruct where your money was spent for last year. Or keep records of your expenditures for two or three months.

After all, if you don't know where your money goes, you have very little chance of getting it to go where you want it to.

You should come out at the end with a few major categories that account for where your money goes.

As you study this picture, you may see that a major portion of your net income is disposed of without your having much choice about it. But in many cases, there are ways that you can reduce expenditures in certain budget categories.

Reductions are based on your needs and wants and how well you make decisions.

Decisions are basic to managing money or any resource. In exchanging your money for things you want, there are two points at which decisions must be made.

The first point is when you choose what you will and will not buy. No matter how much you make, there will never be enough for everything. In other words, when you use money for A, you give up using it for B.

The decision involves carrying out your choices. Many goods and services are similar. Therefore, you need to know enough about the things you buy to get your money's worth.

You may not be able to have everything you want when you want it. But if you develop a financial plan and make changes in your plan as needed you will have more control over your finances and be better able to stretch your paycheck from payday to payday.

A financial plan is useful whether one has a lot of money or just a little. Developing and staying with a plan is a real challenge for any family.

If you would like a copy of a Family Financial Record book contact your Extension Home Economist at 467-5456.

The well-being of the Gulf South depends on United Gas being able to do a good job

Over the last 50 years, as the Gulf South economy has grown, the vital role of United Gas as its prime supplier of energy has grown. Now more than 9000 miles of pipelines serve more than 800 towns and industries. United Gas is an integral, irreplaceable part of the Gulf South economic environment.

Because so much depends on it, whatever affects this company ultimately affects the well-being of the Gulf South. That's why it's so important that United Gas be able to do a good job. And that's why, in good times and bad, we have used our resources to build one of the best energy companies in the business, one capable of helping create a better economic future for all of us.

That's the way we do things at United Gas—where the search for new energy never stops.

Diamondhead woman to perform in ballet

Sharon Montgomery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Montgomery of Diamondhead, will perform in 'Spring Dance' March 6 and 7 at Texas Christian University's Ed Landreth Auditorium in Fort Worth, Tex.

'Spring Dance' is presented by The Division of Ballet and Modern Dance of TCU's School of Fine Arts.

The young ballerina will be appearing in four movements of 'September Suite,' choreographed by Stephanie MacFarlane — a member of the TCU dance faculty.

Montgomery, a sophomore ballet major, has also studied at North Carolina School of The Arts at Winston-Salem and will study this summer at The Boston School of Ballet in Massachusetts.

She has been cast in several other university performances and will appear in 'The Marriage of Figaro' with the Fort Worth Opera Company in May.

Vets reminded to check insurance beneficiary

It is always important to remind veterans of the need to change their beneficiaries on their National Service Life Insurance, says Mike Ladner, Hancock County Veterans Service Officer.

"There are always cases where the insurance payments are made to a person who is the wrong person because the veteran did not change the beneficiary," he reports.

"There are still some cases where a World War II veteran has never changed his beneficiary from his parent, who may be deceased when he intended that his life insurance should go to his wife and children," Ladner cites. "There are still other cases where a divorced veteran would not think to change his life insurance beneficiary from his former spouse, creating many heartaches for his present family," the service officer reports.

"All change of beneficiary forms should be sent directly to the insurance center where the veteran makes his premium payments," he recommends.

Veterans who have questions concerning change of beneficiaries are urged to contact Ladner by telephoning 467-2100.

COMPENSATION CHECKS
Ladner also reports, "Because of a new 'Target System' the VA has established, it is very easy to make a change of address.

"A veteran or surviving spouse may call a toll free telephone number (1-800-682-5270) and give a veterans benefits counselor the change of address immediately without any further delay. The change goes instantly into the master computer. This saves mailing, postage and processing time," Ladner explains.

Church conference set in Hattiesburg Sunday

Bruce R. McConkie, a member of the Council of the 12 Apostles of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be the visiting 'General Authority at the Hattiesburg Stake Conference' Sunday at the Stake Center in Hattiesburg.

"The Hattiesburg Stake is comprised of 14 separate congregations throughout southwest Mississippi, with the Waveland Ward including the membership from the Hancock County area," Reports Jacqueline G. Bosley, local communications director.

"Bishop Daniel Sones presides over the local membership, and will announce a schedule of events at a conference which will include a priesthood meeting, 7:30 a.m.; general leadership meeting, 9:15 a.m.; and general conference, 11 a.m."

"McConkie will preside at all the meetings," Bosley adds.

"McConkie has been an 'Apostle' since October 1972. Prior to that time he served since Oct. 1946 as a member of the First Council of the 70," Bosley reports.

He is a native of Ann Arbor, Mich., where he was born in 1915.

He is a former U.S. Army officer, newspaper writer and public official, and received a law degree from the University of Utah in 1940.

"McConkie is well known by members of the Mormon Church for his authorship of various reference books, including 'Mormon Doctrine,' 'New Testament Commentary' and 'Doctrines of Salvation,'" the communications director says.

He and his wife, Amelia Smith McConkie, are the parents of nine children.

"State conferences throughout the church have been conducted on a quarterly basis for 150 years until being rescheduled to a semi-annual basis last year in the interest of conserving energy associated with the necessary travel involved," Bosley reports.

The public is invited to attend the conference.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

South Mississippi Electric Power Association (SMEPA) in compliance with the Public Utilities Regulatory Policies Act (PURPA) is conducting hearing open to the public for itself and its member cooperatives—Southwest Mississippi Electric Power Association, Twin County Electric Power Association, Coast Electric Power Association, Magnolia Electric Power Association, Coahoma Electric Power Association, Delta Electric Power Association, Southern Pine Electric Power Association, Pearl River Valley Electric Power Association, Singing River Electric Power Association, Dixie Electric Power Association and Yazoo Valley Electric Power Association.

PURPA requires electric utilities to purchase electricity generated by small power production facilities and co-generation facilities which qualify under federal rules at the utilities avoided cost. In order to qualify, small power producers must use waste or renewable resources to generate electricity with use of fossil fuels (coal, oil or gas) only as necessary for certain permitted purposes. Co-generation facilities must produce electricity and heat used for industrial, commercial, heating or cooling purposes. The capacity of small power production facilities is limited to a maximum of 80 megawatts. The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) determines which facilities qualify under the law for the rights and exemptions allowed.

The purpose of the hearings will be to discuss PURPA and to present information on SMEPA's proposed avoided cost rate tariff and interconnection charges which will apply to PURPA qualifying facilities. All interested parties will be heard during the proceedings. Those parties interested in presenting information at the hearing should notify SMEPA of their desire to present testimony of facts or opinions in order to reserve time at the hearing. All requests for time will be acknowledged by return mail. Interested parties should include a brief discussion of the issues to be addressed with their requests for time. Any person who would like to present comments regarding PURPA but cannot attend the meetings, should mail his statement to the address below. A permanent record of the events occurring within the context of the hearings will be maintained.

The hearings have been scheduled as follows:

Tuesday, March 17, 1981, 10:00 A.M. — Auditorium, Greenwood-Leflore County Chamber of Commerce, U.S. Highway 49 Bypass, Greenwood, Mississippi;

Bay High to host baseball tourney

By Randy Ponder

Teams from four area schools will participate in the Bay High baseball tournament scheduled for Friday and Saturday at Tiger park in Bay St. Louis this week.

St. Stanislaus will play Pass Christian at 5pm Friday and Bay High will take on Hancock North-Central in the nightcap at 7pm.

The championship game is set for 7pm Saturday with the consolation game due to start at 5pm.

"I think you're going to see some good ball games," Bay High coach Eddie Carnley said of the tournament. "All of these teams are competitive and I doubt we'll have any blowouts."

Bay High, coming off a ten win eleven loss season a year ago, has six starters returning. This group includes last year's leading hitter David Strong with a .451 average, pitcher Scotty Adam, second baseman Dennis Manieri, first baseman Hotty Adam, center fielder Joe Bye, and catcher Mark Breland.

Other players returning this season that are possible starters are Anthony Smith, Bobby Richardson, Ricky Bourgeois, and Harold Netto. David Palmisano, Bryan Crawford, and Steve Seymore are newcomers to the club.

"We have a lot of experience coming back this year, we're not going to play sloppy ball," coach Carnley stated. "We have a good defensive club and if our pitching and hitting falls into place, we could be in the running for the conference."

Winners of the Pascagoula River Conference last year with a 6-0 conference mark, and 19-4 record over all, the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws also have a number of returning starters.

Catcher Joe Gex, pitcher Andrew Haas, center fielder Bruce Cabell, pitcher Brian Logan, and second baseman Shean Logan as well as Gus Aime who is expected to pitch this season were on last year's championship team.

Also expected to see action this year is third baseman Dennis Scardino, perhaps the best base runner on the team.

"This is the best balanced team I've coached since coming to St. Stanislaus," coach Fred Weems explained. "We have good hitting, good defense as well as good pitching. Several of our boys played together in Legion ball last summer which has to be a big plus and if we play up to our ability we should have a good year."

Pass Christian is in a rebuilding year with only two starters, short stop Michael Hall and pitcher Thomas Spencer returning. They are also the only seniors on the team. In addition to this the Pirates have a new coach, Joe Campbell.

"We are working on the fundamentals," Campbell reported. "We have a good hitting club and if we do okay in our first few games I think we can have a good season."

Unlike the other schools in the Bay High tournament, each of which plays one game before the tourney, Pass Christian's first game will be in the tournament itself.

Hancock North Central also has a new coaching staff with Irvin Farve and Rocky Gaudin.

Outfielders Bobby DeVaughn and Harry Henry are the only seniors on the young, rebuilding Hawk club.

"According to assistant coach Gaudin, 'We have good defense with lots of speed in the outfield and the team as a whole is fundamentally sound.'"

"This team has a lot of enthusiasm and the kids really have the desire to play. We've been practicing real hard," Gaudin added.

Admission to the Bay High tournament is one dollar per person.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of both the championship game and the consolation game.

Local boxers win first place titles

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Several members of the Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club won first and second place awards at the South Mississippi Golden Gloves Tournament conducted in the Sports Arena at University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg last weekend.

Todd Rooks of Kiln, a Hancock North Central student, won first place in the senior division after defeating Kelsey Banks of Gulfport in a Sunday bout.

Fred Rooks, the young fighter's father and boxing club assistant coach proudly notes, "Todd defeated a boy who had won 15 championship fights and fought Scandinavian team fighters."

John Poolson, a Bay Junior High School student from Waveland, won first place in the intermediate division. The Waveland youngster was unopposed for the title crown.

Another Waveland and junior high student, Wayne Karl, won second place in the division.

Kyle Haas, an HNC student from Kiln, earned second place in the novice division.

The first place winners from this area will represent southern Mississippi in a statewide Golden Gloves tournament slated in two weeks.

The assistant coach says the Golden Gloves organization is an amateur group with fighters beginning at age 10.

"Fighter divisions are established based on age and weight categories ranging from 60 pounds to 175 pounds," he adds.

Benchabat's reign at St. Ann carnival

By VIRGINIA THOMAS

St. Ann's Carnival Association of Clermont Harbor presented 'Some Where Over A Rainbow' with Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Benchabat reigning as King and Queen of the Seventh Annual Bal Masque recently at the parish hall.

A stage was transformed into an enchanted garden nestled among stately pines and majestic oaks. The end of the rainbow—Clermont Harbor—where the royal rulers have found a pot of gold and happiness.

According to folktales the place where a rainbow touches is lucky because at the end of the rainbow is a pot of gold or other treasure ready to be taken by the finder. It is also said angels put the gold at that spot.

Her majesty Queen Ann VII made a glittering entrance in an imported 'peau de soie A-line gown sprinkled with iridescent sequins and rhinestones.

Her skirt flowed into a slight train and was highlighted by panels of chiffon. Her royal dress was accented by a gold medallion collar attached to a black velvet cathedral length mantle edged in silver and gold, embellished with scrolls of gold sequins. The center motif of her mantle was the gold appliqued letters 'S A' brilliantly outlined in gold sequins. A bejeweled silver tiara, matching sceptre and long white gloves completed her regal attire.

The king was elegantly attired in white tails and ruffled shirt. His crown of gold and cardinal red velvet was covered with rhinestones. His mantle and sceptre matched the queen's attire.

The queen's maids were dressed in colors of the rainbow, representing necessary characteristics revealing the secret to entering the 'Garden of the Rainbow.'

Shirley Williams, wearing pale pink representing loyalty, was escorted by Kenneth St. Romain.

Yvonne Garcia, wearing rose symbolizing honesty, was escorted by Philip Garcia.

Claire Conway, wearing aqua representing integrity, was escorted by Talmadge Conway.

Donna Perry, wearing golden-beige of generosity, was escorted by Joseph Pisarich.

Beth Garcia, wearing pink symbolizing intelligence, was escorted by Michael Seibert.

Anna Mae Roppolo, wearing peach representing love, was escorted by Joseph Roppolo. Pages were Paul Chiniche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chiniche and Jamie Chiniche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chiniche.

Representing a rainbow—which mythology says this is a bridge between heaven and earth, and this bridge appears to be a cloud with a silver lining—but it is the captain of St. Ann's, Gloria Moran.

She wore an elaborate costume of shimmering silver shine. Her headpiece was adorned with ostrich plumes. Entertainment for the evening was provided by Pam Cuevas School of Dance.

Performing in three dance routines were Gay Cuevas, Pam Cuevas, Lora Day, Lisa Day and Fay Cuevas in 'Only Daddy That'll Walk the Line'; Julie Bourgeois, Jennifer Burrows and Tammy Ladner in 'Simmon Says'; and Gay Cuevas, Lora Day, Lisa Day and Fay Cuevas in 'Honesty.'

Adding to the entertainment were Krewe of St. Ann's Merry Makers which danced while throwing carnival favors to loyal subjects.

Following a grand march, the king asked that everyone join him in a toast honoring last year's royal couple, King and Queen 1980, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Foret who were also presented to the court.

Mrs. Foret chose a white chiffon gown for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. James Davis were awarded first prize for the best costumed couple in attendance while Mrs. William Hero won first prize for the most unique costume.

Grand marshal for the extravaganza was Gerard Boos and master of ceremonies was Monroe James.

Officers and committees of the carnival association are President Mrs. A.M. Thomas, Vice President Mrs. Monroe James, Treasurer Mrs. Alvin Ladner, Decorations by Leonard Rupp, Buddy Williams and Krewe of St. Ann, assistants to royalty are Mrs. Leonard Rupp and Mrs. Rita Davis, membership chairman Mrs. Lee Hote; and refreshments were by Leonard Rupp, James Davis, William Hero, and Alvin Ladner.

Music entertainment was by Bo and Dee.

ST. ANN'S 1981 CARNIVAL COURT MEMBERS' OFFICIAL PORTRAIT.

NO-FRILLS

You be the Judge

We're inviting you to judge our No-Frills, no-brand products for yourself. Perhaps your paper towels need not be printed just to do the basic cleaning job a throwaway towel is designed to do...then why pay for the print when there's No-Frills.

No-Frills products are of everyday quality, under plain wrappers, and on a day to day basis are priced up to 50 per cent less than the Nationally Advertised NAME BRANDS. So what if every bean isn't cut exactly the same length? Sometimes things like that really don't matter.

But what matters is... No-Frills plain labeled products get the job done... and like all the other things we sell, they're backed by our money back guarantee.
